The Cosmic Essene Brethren Speak

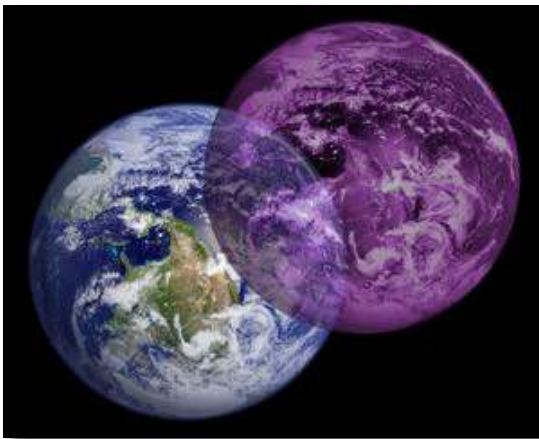

Hello Beloved Angels of great Light, Joy and Glorious Formation. Indeed there are many glorious formations here on your planet and other planets and in many realms of cosmic energies. In this moment now, there is a great abundant clarity of, we shall use the word, streaming...knowing...that is also being.

Knowing that is also being.

There is in your world right now a great conjunction. And this conjunction has not been evidently available for what you would call over . . . you wish a number, yes, so we offer you this number. Over one million years. And yet, even to offer you one million years is to offer you an energy that is still beyond the bounds of the mind form that seeks to hold you captive.

The Twinning of Gaia

Beloved Angels of Great Luminescent Presence and Light, there have been, and there will always be, many illuminated, what you would call, civilizations of Divine Presence on your planet. However, remember that this is but one of twelve planets that circulate in the realms between the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh dimensions. These twelve planets of densified experience are similar, yet different.

Your planet Gaia, the one that you are on now, is in the moment of becoming a twin.

When one births a twin, when a twin finds another, when a Union Soul comes back together or when a Union Soul splits, it is always a moment of grand celebration.

And...there is a tear that is shed for that which will be no more.

Yet the moment of grand celebration is grander than the one single tear that is shed merely for the transformation. Shed your tear for what was and then encapsulate your heart with grand celebration.

The Ascension Pathway: A Cosmic Journey of Remembrance

For indeed, what was, is no longer. And it can never be again. It can never be again. Nor would your heart want it to be; for it is only the mind of density that seeks to create and re-create. Create and re-create. And then you call that recreation.

To re-create is to continually remind thyself that you are unable to expand – is it not?

“I must re-create this situation again and again and again. Because the little yard that I play in with the white picket fence, or whatever that fence may be. For some it is barbed wire. This little fence is comfortable.”

And so you discover that through the re-creation of that which is bound to the molecules of density, you relax into the experience of density. And this is a third dimensional Beingness, is it not?

In third dimensional Beingness, there is great recreation. And when you are ready to see the twin energy that is already with thee, let us take a step back and explain this to thee.

Many in your world now feel un-whole, as if something is missing, as if there is another part or an energy. Perhaps it is in another place. Perhaps it is with another person. Perhaps it is with another suggestion or another experience. There is this sense of something is not all whole.

This is merely a creation. And it is being felt in expanded form now because indeed the planet is twinning. Thereby, you are twinning.

Your eternal soul is infinite, limitless, expansive and expanding now in ways that transform your mind.

Your mind cannot engage this, for when it does, it limits it.

And in the twinning energy that is upon your planet and you, right now, your ascended Beingness is already playing.

You are already free.
You are already ascended.
You are already abundant.
You are already in union.
You are already whole.
You are already complete.

Everything that this other half seeks to try and create, is already created.

And you are re-creating quite well in the fifth dimension, the seventh dimension, the ninth dimension, the eleventh dimension, all the way through the thirty-third crystalline realms.

In the twinning of the planet now, if you were to ask for a job – and we invite you NOT to ask for a job – we invite you to simply BE the gift that you are. But if you were to ask for a job, then the job we would offer to thee is to lift up through and collect all of the knowing from your multi-dimensional presence.

For if you are feeling less than now, if you feel you are missing a piece now, it is only because you have denied yourself the complexity of the connection.
And through the complexity of the connection, the simplicity of the living begins.

You may say, this seems like an oxymoron. We say, is not life on density and oxymoron? Indeed!

Crystalline Communities of Light

Lift through the complexity of the multi-dimensional blessing that you are. Many, many, many years ago, on this specific planet of form, vast civilizations of crystalline beings navigated this planet with great love, great gardens, and communities of great crystalline light.

Children were raised in the freedom of the expression of nature. They began their, what you call education, watching grass grow, discussing flowers as they open, learning how to count by looking at the petals in a rose, learning how to be free by watching the love of their parents as their parents offered love to the earth, playing at their parents' feet while much was harvested.

And through these crystalline beings, there was great expansion and technology that did not take from the earth. Indeed, it seeded her. Harvesting crystals was very different than ripping them from the earth with an earthmover.

There was a difference when tone was used to offer healing. Great tone in combination with the aromas of the flowers was brought into all who may have felt out of balance. There was no need for hospitals, for the world was your hospital. There was no need for psychological support because there was a balanced harmony, a support mechanism of sustained crystalline light formation.

In this moment now, your world is cleansing herself, and in the twinning energy of her fifth dimensional, let us say, arising, all of this is being revealed.

Your seeds of divine crystalline community have already sprouted within thee. If you are hearing, reading, listening or know of these words that are being offered at this moment in time, these words mean nothing as far as the timeline.

These words are eternal activators of your divine community within.

Where is your community? Within you.
Where is your twin? Within you.
Where is your partner? Within you.
Where is your wholeness? Within you.
Where is your abundance? Within you.
Where is your prosperous, spiritual, divine connection?
Within you, through you and around you.

Receiving Crystalline Light as a Gift

We invite thee now to receive the gift we are offering, which is a ray of crystalline light that we send through the eyes of this vessel now.

And as we offer this ray into what you call your third eye, simply breathe it up into the area of your Star Consciousness¹ and Crown.

And as you do, begin to feel your feet floating. Sandals that look like what you would call a Lotus flower, a color of your own choosing, allowing this energy to lift up through you now releasing ALL within thee that seeks to doubt and re-create in the drowsiness.

It has been not so long ago, that you smiled upon this planet and that you cultivated the crystalline energy, that together you created great spheres of harmony. That what you call a home was a crystalline, let us say, dome-like structure. And within that structure was great energy, great love, great presence and great understanding.

In the twinning of your Soul now, you are simply at a time when you can remember all of the twinning energy. And when the twinning energy comes forward, there is great restoration and great recreation in the world of form.

To twin thyself is to release the egoic presence that would believe that you must be navigating in a world of density as a densified being.

This is the great illusion is it not?

The Ascension Pathway: A Cosmic Journey of Remembrance

You are not this protoplasmic experience!

You ARE the Divine and you are filled with Divine mercy, compassion and energy.

You are the future of this world. You are the hope of this world.

You are the compassion of this world. You are the resurrection of this world.

You are the blessing. You are the gift. You are the light. You are the crystals.

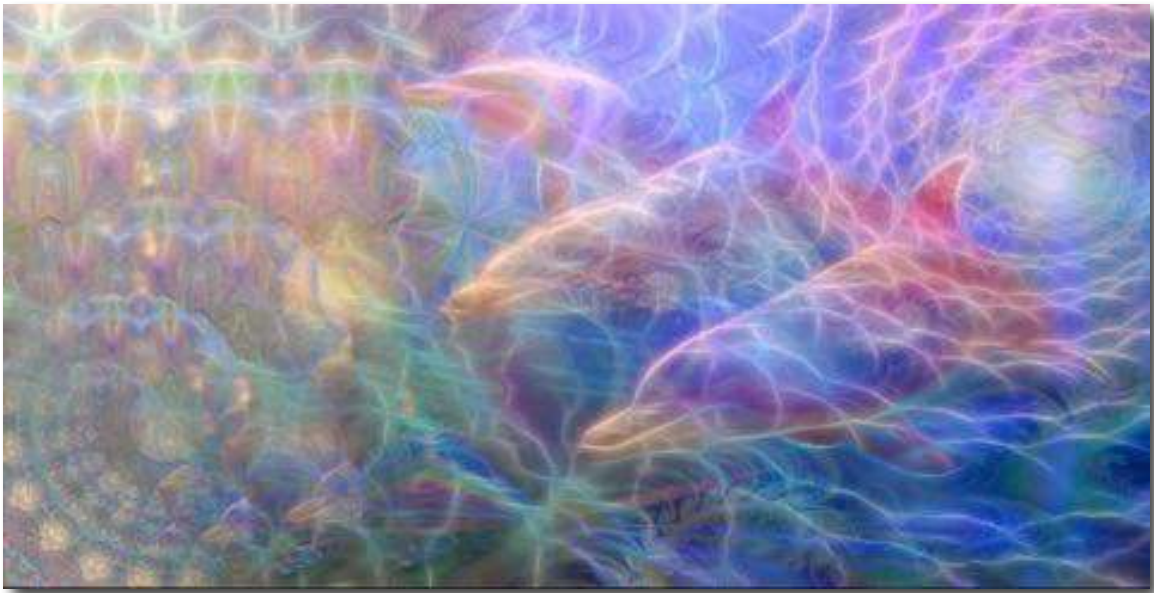

You are the Divine ones. You are the healers. You are the gatherers.

You are the explorers. You are the travelers. You are the magicians. You are the alchemists.

You are the farmer. You ARE the Divine. You are the one who is the singer of the whales.

You are the one who harmonizes with the dolphins.

You are the one who can clean the ocean with your love.

If you were to drop your single tear, drop it into the ocean or drop it into a glass of water. And symbolically see your heart and your love spread infinite-fold like a sonic wave of crystalline light. Feel it connect with the crystalline grids that hold this planet together through transformation. Weep not for this planet. Weep not for this world. She is birthing beloved angels. And when a mother births twins, many things happen.

The Birthing

Your twin is birthing now. You are birthed. Your planet is birthing. The crystalline cities of great healer-ship are re-erecting, re-arranging and coming forward. Points of divine communion that have yet to be explored are revealing themselves. And through these beautiful realignments, weep not for the world.

If you must shed that tear, shed it to offer the divinity to all. Join with the crystalline grids that have effervescently been with you. Celebrate and dance.

The world around you will seek to offer you a dismissal of your twin energy. It will seek to offer you distraction. It will seek to offer you an illusionary experience that you are not what you are. This indeed is a powerful gift of the moment.

Where there is the Yin, there is the Yang. Where there is the light, there is the dark. And where there is the perfect balanced point of stillness, the zero point within, activate this point. Breathe up and know your truth.

When you activate this point, all comes forward. Fear not for this planet, but shed the single tear. And then, celebrate. Celebrate. Celebrate. Celebrate. And when the mind of form seeks to come in, celebrate. It is but a twin of the mind of your crystalline nature.

Which mind is there? Which mind is offering you wisdom? Both offer wisdom akin to where they are attuned.

And so, attune thyself to the energy of the Divine expanded moment you are in. And as you attune thyself, you will discover great, magnificent – let us use the word – flowers blooming for thee. Allow thy flowers to bloom. Allow thy flowers to bloom. Do not cut them. Let them bloom. Allow them to be fragrant. Allow them to uplift thee. Allow them to be the garden of your soul manifest with great beauty, for you are the garden.

You are Eden within.

The Eden is the new renewal, restoration, of the Divine process of your co-creative, infinite Being, ready to experience beyond this dimension.

Indeed, remember that you have chosen this moment and we honor thee for such great sacrifice; and yet, such great party. It is a great party indeed.

We are here for you and we will accept your questions if you seek to ask them.

Question from the audience: I wish to know my soul name.

Answer: This is not a question for us to answer for you. And we respond more to say this. The name of the soul, the twin, the multi-dimensional expression of you, is already covering you. All of the letters radiate around you. Merely the reason we cannot offer this name to you is it would disempower the resurrection energy you are birthing now.

However, bring your hand to your heart. Bring your other hand up to you Star Consciousness. Yes. Close thy eyes and feel the radiance of divine energy pouring into you, up through your feet, up through you. Feel, see and know the luminescent light that is pulsing around you. And relax the brain and hear the whispers of the universe coming into you now. And on that whisper is your name. We invite you tell us your name for it is right there.

Relax the brain. Relax the brain of density. Allow this moment to be the gift of showing you that when you can relax and trust thyself, everything will flow with you. Relax, and thank you for inviting this great gift into your life today.

Question: Is this my time to wait with my children, to be with them, to nurture them, or is this my time to expand?

Answer: Why must it be exclusive? We do not ask for answer. We ask for your heart to answer. In a world of form, all children now are serving a great lesson of infinite expansion. What this means is that for all children, especially those that were born after the year 2000 in your linear timeframe. These children carry great light ignition and have come to do their part to assist those born prior to this time, to remember who they are at an even greater pace and with greater presence.

They act out in many unusual ways. In the claiming, and in your case, reclamation of your mastery; this – let us use the word – decision, is the mastery. You must go deep within your own heart and not listen to the – let us use the word – ‘advice’ of others. Only through the ignition of the recognition of wisdom of your divine energy will this balanced expression come forward. Look outside the expressions you have been seeking, because the answer you are already aware of does not come from the mind of density. It comes from stepping outside and seeing the greater picture and the energies as they are working now. This is a powerful question, for many ask this question. And so it is.

Question: Many of us feel incomplete without a divine partner. How would we know if our divine partner is present in form?

Answer: Breathe in first. And relax, for we see much anxiety around this question within thee. We also see pain and hurt. So we wish to offer you this. You are twinning now. To claim, let us say, the divine partner in form, one must first allow the multi-dimensional twin to come forward without judgment or expectation.

In a world of form, the energy of expectation is actually like the reverse pole magnet of attraction. And so, if you live every day with expectation: where is; how is; when will; you are actually sending out a polarized energy that will repel the attraction.

So indeed beloved one, spend each day in the celebration of I am enough and I claim all aspects of me. As I twin with beloved Gaia, my multi-dimensional self is already in dance-filled delight with my beloved. And as I unify this stream, the moment arises when the beloved of this world dances in and you delight again. The question of knowing becomes irrelevant because you are here. And so it is.

Question: Do you have a pearl of wisdom to offer for those of us who are called to be a midwife at this time, a midwife of souls, a midwife to help with this twinning process?

Answer: To be a midwife or a midhusband, is to say, “I am here. I am ready. I am open. Guide me.”² If you seek a pearl, then that is it.

Yes.

² These four lines are The Mantra of Self-Ascension

Question: Maybe four years ago, maybe longer, I have this sound in my head every once in a while and it feels very much like electric static or something. What is it?

Answer: (Initially Kira Raa begins Toning and then speaking Light Language, then the Cosmic Essene continue).

Your brethren seek to speak with you. And so we offered them that moment. However, this body would not sustain them much longer. Release any resistance to floating well beyond the dimensional field of this planet. And when the tone becomes almost unbearable, take in a deep breath. Emit a tone. And in that moment, close thy eyes. Bring thy hands to the heart. And say, "I hear you, I love you, speak to me in a language I may understand." And then bring your pen to paper, for there is much for you to do. And through this connection, you will resurrect again a great beauty that will become part of a crystalline community of great light and assist with the resurrection of those that remain on the planet. And so it is.

~~~~~

We love you. We are here for you eternally. You are eternally here for you.

We invite thee to twin so that you may indeed step into the resurrected process of your beloved presence at all times. Your planet is twinning; and not all birth is beautiful. Sometimes, it is downright painful.

Yet always worth it is it not? The pain is always soon forgotten because of the end result. Dive not into any perception of pain. Dive into the beauty of your truth. Dive into the queenship. Dive into the kingship.

Dive into ALL of that that you are. Rise through the multi-dimensional portals that are open for you now. Lift up. Breathe up. And remember thyself.

And when the illusion seeks to keep you captive, laugh, dance, and Be.
You will find each other in greater communities of light more and more.
Fewer will hide and more will come out.

And remember beloved angels, if you attempt to save, you will actually destroy.
Thereby, be present for you.

Be present, and in your presence, the unified stream of divine healing will uplift all.
And those who choose to transcend will simply assist you from other dimensional realms.

Shed but one tear and offer it to the cosmic light.

We love you. And so it is.
